Local Flier Wins D.S.O.

News has been received of yet another citation received by W/C Vaughan Ganderton, who was born in Wainwright and is a veteran of two tours of operations, C.O. of the famous Lion bomber squadron, is the holder of an outstanding flying record. The citation accompany the D.S.O. said:

"He has proved himself to be a most resourceful and skilful pilot who has successfully completed many hazardous attacks on highly defended targets in enemy territory. During an attack on Julich in November, 1944, one engine of his aircraft became unserviceable before crossing the French coast but despite this handicap he continued his mission and pressed home the attack successfully. On other occasions he has completed dangerous missions on three engines. His aircraft has been damaged by anti-aircraft fire on several sorties but he has always succeeded in returning to base.

"He has led his squadron with distinction during his second tour of operations and his fine example in the face of the enemy has been an inspiration to all serving under him."

McCafferty U.F.W.A. Hold September Meet.

The September meeting of McCafferty U.F.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Leo. Jackson, with the president Mrs. Lance Jackson in the chair. The meeting was opened with a poem brought by Mrs. Ed. Crossley "Thank God for Little Things". The thought for the month was read by the secretary, Mrs. Pat Mahoney. Plans were made to collect clothing for United Nations Relief. Each member will give a cash donation toward sending a delegate to the U.F.A. Convention on January 8th instead of having a sale of work.

The secretary was asked to find out if donations were still being accepted for the Prisoners of War Fund and if so, to send $100.00. To date this local has given $200.00 to this important branch of the Red Cross.

All members assisted in buying materials fora beautiful quilt which has been made by Mrs. Crosley. The quilt will be sent as a wedding present to Mrs. Tribe, a former member of the group.

Mrs. Lance Jackson took out a life membership in the U.F.W.A. Mrs. Spencer read the Bulletin "Education for Rural Living." A war savings stamp was raffled and won by Mrs. Azzarella. After the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Dick Nicholl, Mrs. Pat Mahoney and Mrs. Leo Jackson. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred McBrides.

Explains Position 'Delayed' Students

Students prevented by the record post-war rush from gaining entrance to the university this fall will be second only to veterans of the armed forces in priority for entrance at the terms starting January and next September, Dr. Robert Newton, president of the University of Alberta said Saturday.

The civilian young men and women who had to postpone the start of their university careers will be admitted at the earliest possible opportunity, the president said. Veterans who have been waiting years to start or resume their studies are being given first choice.

Present facilities appear to be accommodating the record fall enrolment satisfactory, he said, though additional chairs for classrooms are needed. The university ordered several hundred some months ago but still is awaiting receipt of the goods.

Registration of 48 additional students Friday, first day of lectures, boosted the total to 2,107, Registrar A. E. Ottewell reported. Nearly half of Friday's enrolments were veterans.

Establishment of a degree course in physical education in one of the western universities has been under discussion here in consultation with the other western centres, but definite action is unlikely until next fall, Dr. Newton said.

Contribution Of Returned Meu

In a recent speech at Ottawa, Mr. Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, discussed veterans' employment. In closing he said, "It will be our problem to absorb the straight-thinking and broad-minded approach of life which they can give us."

If there is one thing more than another that gripes a homecoming veteran, it is to see factions in the country scrapping with each other for power or money. Was it for this that some of his best friends died? He hates to see labor and management at each other's throat. He wants to see the spirit of teamwork learned in battle applied in industry.

This spirit is demonstrated in a plant where a Works Council was set up with the objective of creating teamwork which could be a pattern for all industry. Experience of the last two years has proved that teamwork produces higher wage earnings and maintained profits that confidence promotes production. Output has remained at 100% of normal as against a wartime reduction in manpower of one-third. The figures are actually better than this because overtime has been greatly reduced with a marked improvement in the health of the workers.

The attitude of the company executives is that it is only possible to see the true place of labor and mangement in a plant in light of the true destiny of industry—"to demonstrate a Christian democratic way of life that works." They feel that the trade union is so essential a part of industrial teamwork that "if it did not exist it would be necessary to invent it. It is the co-ordinating factor that enables labor to make its maximum contribution to the general well-being."

The reaction of the men is indicated by one worker who remarked, "The biggest thing in the annals of this company is the Works Council and what it stands for. It is worth fighting for with all we've got."

The trade union secretary added, "What is being done here is important not only for your firm, but for the whole of industry."

This is an encouraging demonstration for our returned veterans of the "straight thinking and broad-minded approach to life" of which Mr. MacNamara spoke.

Stealing From Starving

(Winnipeg Free Press)

There will be enough meat for everybody in Canada. We are not rationing it because it is scarce; we are rationing it to save the lives of our allies. Those who are tempted to try to get more meat through resort to black markets must understand where that extra meat will come from It will come from the mouths of starving people. They will be taking it from civilian allies who have given everything but their lives for victory. They will be taking it from people who habitually get less meat to eat in a month than we have in a couple of days. It will not be considered 'smart' in Canada to have more meat to eat than the law allows. It will not be so considered because decent Canadians will look with distaste upon those who will steal food from starving people.

PRIME MINISTER MACKENZIE KING ISSUES PERSONAL STATEMENT SUPPORTING NATIONAL CLOTHING COLLECTION

The Prime Minister's Statement follows:

In many Allied countries today, millions of men, women and children still suffer extreme privation. They have not enough clothing to keep them warm. Lacking clothing, the sick cannot get well nor the weak become strong. With millions ill-clad and nearly shoeless, these Allied peoples are desperately handicapped in facing the tremendous tasks of reconstruction following invasion.

As a measure of help, a National Clothing Collection is being held throughout Canada from October 1st to October 20th, to obtain spare used clothing for free distribution to these destitute peoples. The Clothing Collection is sponsored by the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund on behalf of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. It has received the approval of the Canadian Government.

The people of Canada made magnificent contributions in all directions to help our Allies during the war. I am confident that they will be no less great-hearted in responding to the urgent appeal for clothing now being made.

Sgnd: W. L. Mackenzie King.

"Canadian Homes" Survey

Canadian farm women are handicapped at every turn in their struggle to keep their families and homes clean.

They lack properly equipped bathroom, toilet and laundry facilities and place three-piece bathrooms, bathtubs, built-in laundry tub and washing machines high on the list of things they would most like to have.

These findings result from a poll of Canadian medium and low-cost homes, revealing a sad shortage of sanitary facilities in Canadian rural homes. Lever Brothers Limited, who conducted the survey, said findings are being given to government and other housing authorities as developed.

The survey was confined to farms of 200 acres or less. It is estimated that 70% of all Canadian farmers are in this class.

Connected with the running water shortage is the report that nearly half the village homes and three-quarters of the farm homes are without flush toilets.

Reason for the accent on bathroom equipment in future plans lies in the discovery that only one farmhouse in four has a regular bathtub. In cities and towns, where prevalence of plumbing might be expected to show a different picture, almost one family in five is still without a bathtub.

The laundry picture is also challenging. Only 21% of urban homes, 6% in villages and 2% on farms are equipped with stationary or built-in laundry tubs. Number of tubs of any kind with drains is just a point or two higher. That means the majority of Canadian women in all sections of the country do the weekly wash in tubs much like their grandmothers had.

Washing machines are in better supply. Almost seven-tenths of city and town families have them and a slightly greater number in villages. Farms lead with 76%, though naturally the scarcity of electric power results in a much higher proportion of hand operated machines. Gasoline drives the washing machines in 11% of farm homes.

That few farm people who are without washing machines have separate wringers seems indicated by the figures showing one home in every five without one. Even at that rate wringers are more plentiful on farms than in villages or cities where they are absent from one home in every four.

Nearly all women have irons, and the number of electric irons is roughly in ratio to the availability of power. But husbands have fallen down in supplying ironing boards. 17% of city-town women, 11% in villages and 26% on farms have to do their ironing on the kitchen table-top.

Horse Processing Plant To Open Soon

The Horse Co-operative Marketing Association hope to have their Swift Current, Saskatchewan, plant in operation on October 1st or very shortly after that date. The Secretary Organizer, S. F. Shields, says that the plant is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for a test run of 300 horses. This test run will be for the purpose of determining the quantity of meat and by-products to be derived from all types of horses. Because initial payments to the producer are based on fleshy condition, the basis of live grading will be determined by the meat recovery on the test run. The initial payment to producers will be 2c per lb. live weight for well fleshed horses with further payments in the form of patronage dividends.

Many thousands of horses have been listed with the Co-operative in the last few weeks. Listings have come from nearly every town in Saskatchewan and from many in Southern Alberta.

The purpose of listing horses with the Horse Co-operative Marketing Association is twofold. Because there are over 200,000 surplus horses in Saskatchewan alone, it is necessary to have some sort of quota basis for shipments to the plants at Swift Current, Sask., and Edmonton Alberta. In this way all producers have an equal chance to dispose of their horses and the drought areas can be given some preference in the face of the serious feed situation. The other purpose of listings is that producers who assist in enabling the Co-operative to raise its financial objective of $100,000 and subscribe loan capital can be given priority on shipments. This is being achieved by producers buying one share in the Co-op at $1.00 for every head of horses they wish to list for sale to the Co-op. This then enables the Horse Co-operative Marketing Association to pay off the $50,000 loan guaranteed by the province and put all the assets in the hands of the producer members. The Co-op. is a non-profit organization and only those who ship horses through the plants will get the benefit of patronage dividends.

"Anyone who has not already listed their surplus horses are urged to do so now" says Mr. Shields.

Call For Maintenance Of Alaska Highway

While it is estimated that maintenance will cost $2,000,000 a year, a committee has recommended to the dominion government that Canada continue to maintain the Alaska highway for a period of years. The cost to the U.S. government for the last year was $3,000,000.

The recommendation has been made to the federal department of reconstruction.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association are keeping a careful watch on the Alaska highway association, in view of the fact that this organization already has emphasized the importance of developing this great tourist and scenic route.

One of the points made in the committee's report is that the main highway from Edmonton to Dawson Creek known as the Peace River highway, should be improved and brought to a desirable standard to connect with the Alaska road.

The condition of the Alaska road and also the connecting road from Edmonton north is being investigated by a committee from the Great Falls, Montana, Chamber of Commerce.

Seasonal Cut In Motor Car Licenses

First reduction in motor licenses in Alberta this year will take effect Oct. 1, when there will be the usual 40 per cent cut in the annual license fee, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

In the case of cars which were manufactured in 1935 or in earlier years, the reduction will be 50 percent of the annual fee.

Through the lifting of wartime restrictions on gasoline, it is expected that there will be a spurt in applications for new licenses this fall. Many owners who have had their cars out of operation for the duration intend to have them in service from now on, providing weather conditions are satisfactory.

On Jan. 1, the reduction in the annual license fee will be 75 percent, which is the usual decrease at that time for those who wish to operate their cars for the last three months of the license period, from Jan. 1 to March 31.

Women Unite To Spurn Inflation

Canadian women are reported to take stiff attitude toward black markets and actions encouraging inflation—even to boycotting all stores persisting in illegal practices.

Thus agree 16,000 key members of Prices Board Consumer Branch committees across Canada who represent nearly 2,000,000 women shoppers.

Women who remember the runaway inflation which followed the last Armistice realize the present transition period is a difficult one, requiring strong backing if Canada is to avoid economic disaster, said Miss Byrne Sanders, Consumer Branch director, in initiating a five-point anti-flation program.

Over one thousand Alberta women, represented directly through Consumer committees in Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Red Deer, Grande Prairie and rural organizations have agreed to support the following five-point program: (1) to make known throughout communities the great danger of a post-war inflation and practical methods of combatting it; (2) to watch prices and quality; (3) to conserve everything in the home until the period of shortages is past; (4) to intensify the educational program in women's organizations, "Miss Consumer" committees, and among demobilized servicewomen; and (5) to maintain close contact with the Prices Board in speaking for consumers.

In supporting the Board's anti-inflation policy, women realize that Canada's enviable record among the allied nations in the matter of price controls could be lost in the months ahead unless we complete our task by effecting normal transition from war to peace, Miss Sanders said.

Some people say they'd give their shirts to bring in a new world. But they don't invest in it financially or take off their coats to fight for it.

Varsity Considers Sociology Branch

University of Alberta board of gov- of establishing a department of sociology at the university, university officials announced Saturday.

At a recent meeting the board decided there was real need for a department specializing in social organizations and relatons of all kinds, including co-operation. Number of organizations have requested the establishment of a chair in the latter subject, but the board felt it would be better to establish a broader department covering co-operation among other sociological subjects.

The name "sociology" has been suggested for the new department, the term being used, not in the restricted sense of social welfare study, but in its original meaning as the science of living together. In this department would be brought together political science, law, and economics treated as integrated factors in organized society.

WAINWRIGHT, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 3rd, 1945

"FOR WANT OF A NAIL—."

"For want of a nail a shoe was lost—."

Most of us are familiar with the military adage which opens with that line and goes on to tell how the missing nail, by costing the loss of a shoe, cost the lost of a horse, of the general who rode it, and, ultimately, the loss of the battle in which the general's leadership was essential to victory.

Through its frequent repetition, or through sayings of similar character, the lesson of the importance of seemingly trivial things to great achievements has been pretty well established in Canadian minds.

Yet, we wonder how many have thought of the importance of their cast-off clothes, shoes and bedding to the restoration of this war-torn world and the wholesome and lasting peace which we all desire when the final victory over the Axis nations is won.

For want of adequate clothing, during the five or more years of Axis aggression, uncounted numbers of the men, women and children—innocent victims of the Nazis and Japs—have died of exposure or diseases traceable thereto. As our valiant armies liberated their lands and freed their peoples, the full extent of their suffering and their present desperate needs were revealed—large families forced to share tattered garments scarcely adequate to cover a single person; children and older people forced to remain in their shattered hovels or to step forth virtually naked into the rigors of harsh climates; other Axis-made conditions equally appalling.

And these are the peoples who, if a real peace is to come after final victory, must rebuild their broken homes and towns and cities; theirs are the children who, with ours, must join in making this a finer and more peaceful world.

Can we expect such things of them while they are sick and suffering from the lack of essential clothing?

For their want of such clothing, the full fruits of ultimate victory over the Axis can be lost.

But their is no need for any such lack while the attics and other storage places in millions of Canadian homes are hung or cluttered with castoff, yet still serviceable, SPARE clothes, shoes and bedding.

Millions of pounds of such materials, useless and never to be used by us, are available to the war-ravaged destitute. The National Clothing Collection, which opened October 1, is designed to transfer our serviceable castoffs to these stricken peoples. And now is the time for you to raid your attic or catch-all storeroom and force it to yield its share of usable apparel to those in desperate need.

Canada's Helping Hand

The change-over from wartime to peacetime has not been an abrupt one, but every day there is evidence that Canada is moving, slowly but surely to the point where we will be able to look back and view war measures as past history.

We're going to have meat rationing for some time to come, of course. And we all know the humanitarian reasons for that. The people who have had the full impact of war right on their own doorstep are short of the necessities of life. We, as citizens of Canada, and people of the world, are going to extend a helping hand.

More Jobs Than Applicants

One of the very real evidences of peace is the word of the Labour Department that the extreme labour shortage is passing. The number of persons going through the process of re-assignment from war jobs to peace jobs has been steadily increasing.

But when I say that the extreme labour shortage is passing I do not mean that there are not more unfilled jobs than there are applicants for work.

As an example: On August 24, the number of jobs to be filled throughout Canada was a little short of 124,000 a drop of 7,000 during the preceding fortnight. To fill these vacancies, approximately 53,000 applicants were available as compared with 48,000 two weeks earlier.

The Labour Department notes that the decrease in requirements for war production has been offset to some extent by an upward trend in the demand for workers for civilian industries.

So, you see, we are marching along the peacetime road with its changing scenes, but they are not being too abrupt. After all, having been at war since 1939, you can't drop everything and start right in where you were before.

I don't think most of us want to be where we were in 1939, as a matter of fact. We want a better, safer world and we're all going to work with that goal in mind.

Ninth and Biggest

And one of the ways of making a better world will be to invest in Victory Bonds. That's another wartime feature that is still with us. We've supported previous loans with a will, and we're asked to put our shoulders to the wheel again—but this time with reconstruction as our goal.

Our ninth, and biggest, Victory Loan—to be launched Oct. 22—is for $1,500,000000. Hon. J. L. Ilsley Minister of Finance notes that previous loans have aimed to cover the financial needs for only six months, but because victory has brought a reduction in Canada's war costs, the ninth loan will meet borrowings for a 12-month period.

We've loaned to bring peace, and now let's loan to make that peace effective.

Sixty Minute Houses?

England which has seen so many of its homes destroyed by German bombs, is even more house-building conscious than Canada, which is certainly saying something.

Many schemes have been tried in Britain, and I notice that prefrabricated aluminum houses have appeared in the city of Bristol. These houses take three-and-a-half hours to erect and during that time water, gas and electricity are laid on.

The comment of the foreman about the time required to put them up is enlightening. "We took rather a long time," he said, "but with a little experience we shall be able to put them up more quickly".

Moscow building organizations are watching Britain's house-building programme with a good deal of interest and have asked the United Kingdom for films, plans and literature showing how various types of homes are built. The Financial News reports that it is anticipated that many British methods will be employed by Russia in reconstruction work.

A Way To Pay

Much has been said since VE Day about "the immeasurable debt" we owe to those who have given their lives in the struggle—"a debt we can never pay."

Why can't we measure? Why can't we pay? At least in part?

They gave full measure of devotion to their country. Is there any one of us who cannot raise our measure of devotion?

We may not be called upon to make a full down payment as they did. We may not have to pay with our lives. But we can pay through our living. Pay on the installment plan. Pay in part through all the ways a man can show devotion to his country. Through devotion to his family. Devotion to his friends. Through more active devotion to the principles his country stands for—honesty—unselfishness—fair play.

Here is a suggested schedule of part payments, small in themselves, but which all add up:

Payment No. 1—pay more attention to the family at the breakfast table.

Payment No. 2—pay the apology we owe the other fellow for calling him down on something that we were not up on.

Payment No. 3—pay more visits to the church—not to criticise the minister or set a good example to the children—but to see where we ourselves need to get set straight.

Payment No. 4—pay our bills—all of them.

Payment No. 5—pay the fiddler when we've danced—at least be honest with our wife (or husband) about it.

Payment No. 6—pay back the money we gypped on the income tax.

Payment No. 7—pay a new kind of attention to the other man's complaints—probably we caused them.

Regular payment such as these will help build a world worth dying for. Such a world is, after all, the only monument worth erecting to those who have given their lives. If we stop talking about an "immeasurable debt" and start measuring up the way we live we may never even the score. But we will come much closer to the goal of having "paid in full".

EMERGENCIES

arise in any family

Banks are continually making small loans to meet these emergencies which can upset the best-planned budgets.

Three out of every five bank loans are for less than $500. Many of these are used to take care of such expenses as doctor or hospital bills, temporary embarrassment at tax-time, a sudden journey, the winter's coal bill.

Again, educational needs of the family often are financed by small bank loans.

These small loans enable individuals to consolidate debts, and to pay back from income.

Small loans furnish just one more example of the service available to you at your bank.

The Road Ahead

Here are a few more of the questions that service people are asking about the rehabilitation program.

How do I apply for my Re-establishment Credit?

After discharge, visit the District Supervisor of Re-establishment Credit at the local (or nearest) office of the Department of Veterans' Affairs. He will want to see your War Service Gratuity Statement. His approval must be given for the use you intend to make of the credit. If you want—say—to purchase furniture for your home, he will be easy to convince. In this case, you would then go to your merchant, pay one-third of the bill and get an invoice for the other two-thirds of the cost. This invoice, together with a formal application for your Credit, should be sent to the District Supervisor, who will pay it. You will later get a receipt. Be sure to contact the Supervisor before you make any commitments for your credit.

What happens to my pay if I have to continue hospital treatment after discharge?

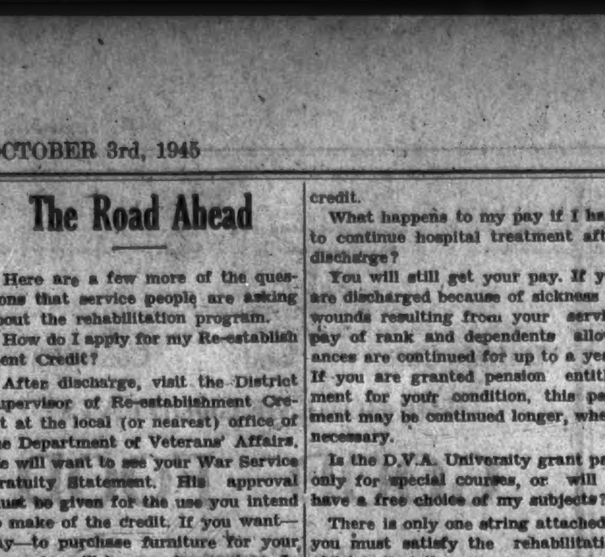
You will still get your pay. If you are discharged because of sickness or wounds resulting from your service pay of rank and dependents allowances are continued for up to a year. If you are granted pension entitlement for your condition, this payment may be continued longer, where necessary.

Is the D.V.A. University grant paid only for special courses, or will I have a free choice of my subjects?

There is only one string attached—you must satisfy the rehabilitation officials that the courses and subjects you enroll for will actually help you make a living later on and that you are adapted for the training. Where your course, if technical, there won't be much doubt about it. On the other hand, some people—those planning to teach, for example,—would certainly be eligible to take subjects which might not look very "practical" at first glance.

I expect to be discharged in hospital. Does this mean that I lose my thirty-day repatriation leave?

Evidently you returned to Canada physically unable to take your repatriation leave and, being discharged in hospital, will never get it. However, when you leave the hospital, you will find waiting for you thirty days pay and allowances in lieu of that leave. This is in addition to your rehabilitation grant.



THE DAILY PROBLEM OF THIS younster it to get his head, arms and legs through the right holes in his only garment. It's a common problem for millions of men, women and children in the liberated countries of Europe. You can help them by contributing serviceable used clothing, to the National Clothing Collection drive sponsored by the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund and scheduled for October 1-20. Under the national chairmanship of W. M. Birks of Montreal, a committe is being set up in every Canadian centre and distribution in Europe will be under the direction of UNRRA experts.

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

THE DOMINION RUST RESEARCH LABORATORY

The work of investigating and combatting plant diseases—stem rust and leaf rust which attack wheat plants are merely two of them—is centered in the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory, Winnipeg. This institution has produced some valuable varieties of rust-resistant grains such as Renown and Regent wheats, Vanguard, Ajax and Exeter oats, with others coming along.

Some people assume now that these rust-resistant varieties have been produced, that the work of the Rust Research Laboratory is over. This assumption I find is greatly in error, for just as the Plant Breeder, by crossing different varieties, creates new varieties that are resistant to the existing forms or races of rusts, so is Nature unfortunately busily at work also creating new races of rusts and other plant diseases. At any time, therefore, a new form of rust may come along to which our existing varieties will not be resistant. We can say, therefore, that the battle against rust is never ended and that the Rust Research Laboratory is only just starting the good work of which it is capable. The work, therefore, of the Rust Research Laboratory in my humble opinion, should not only be maintained in full vigour, but, considering its small comparative cost, should be considerably expanded so that our farmers can have protection against these dread rust and other plant diseases.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Portugal's crop and livestock production outlook for 1945-46 is extremely bad as a result of the drought conditions experienced during the growing season—It is reported that Austria's spring grain crops are poor this year because much of the country was the scene of violent battles last spring.

According to preliminary forecasts Free China may harvest a larger than average rice crop this year—Broomhall reports that the United Kingdom is harvesting an excellent wheat crop—Grain shipments from Fort William and Port Arthur during the 1944-45 crop year amounted to 518,896,019 bushels reports the Board of Grain Commissioners.

Short Wave VEGAI

Perserverance and determination on the part of a group of young Edmonton dramatists paid off when word was received that two of their half-hour dramatic productions had been accepted for network broadcasting. Opening broadcast was heard Thursday, September 20 at 9:00 p.m. over CJCA. The play, titled "Sidewalk Serenade" is written by Luke Stewart and was presented by the CJCA Radio Theatre under direction of Doug Homersham.

The cast consisted of Jack Dixon, Marguerite Macdonald, Frances Garness, Jack Mather, Farnham Howarth, Newton Shortliffe and Allan Macdonald.

CJCA Radio Theatre was organized by Doug Homersham, member of the staff, about two years ago. Their productions have been broadcast over CJCA on numerous occasions, especially in support of Victory Loan campaigns, welfare drives and in support of Canadian-American goodwill. This was the first broadcast over a network.

The next production will be heard Thursday, September 27 over CJCA at 9:00 p.m. This production is titled "The Morning Stars" and is written by David S. Catton.

INSTITUTE FOR DIRECTORS OF NURSE PLACEMENT BUREAUX BEING HELD IN WINNIPEG

The first Canadian institute for Directors of Nurse Placement Bureaux opened today in Winnipeg, with about forty Directors of Placement Bureaux and Nurse Registries, officers of provincial nurses' associations, and hospital and public health administrators attending. The 10-day institute is being held under the auspices of the Canadian Nurses Association. The first five days will be devoted to group discussion under the leadership of Miss Gertrude Hall General Secretary of the Canadian Nurses Association, and the last five days to consideration of personnel management problems under the direction of Dr. Oralind Triggs, Personnel Consultant of the American Nurses Association and organizer of the consultant service for the nurses of the United States.

The institute hopes to be effective in establishing Nurse Placement Bureaux in British Columbia, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and bureaux are being organized in Saskatchewan and Alberta. The purpose of these bureaux is to help nurses find the positions for which they are best fitted and to supply employers with nurses best qualified for positions to be filled. The establishment of Placement Bureaux in all provinces will greatly assist the nursing profession to meet the need for nursing service and to maintain a high quality of service through careful selection and placement. It will bring into closer association and co-ordinate the efforts of all those engaged in or concerned with the employment of nurses. Beyond the placement of nurses, Placement Bureaux will undertake studies of particular community problems.

The 10-day institute will not give a complete preparation for counselling, but will give an insight into the organization and functions of Placement Bureaux.

The work done by psychiatrists in the placement of men in the Armed services has pointed up the value of such service as the Placement Bureaux will give. More and more there will be a tendency in business and professions to try to place individuals according to their aptitudes. The Canadian Nurses Association, facing an unprecedented demand for nursing service in certain fields on the one hand and the demobilization of more than three thousand nursing sisters on the other hand, is setting up machinery for the proper placement of nurses and the providing of nursing service where it is most urgently required.

It's not just to build a new world for our children, but to build our children for a new world.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

P. M. NEATBY
Director
Line Elevators Farm Service
Winnipeg, Manitoba

Seed Testing Service

In accordance with a promise made nearly two years ago, Line Elevators Farm Service now offers a complete seed testing service to growers of wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax. Examination and testing of samples will include consideration of five important factors.

1. Germination. Tests will be made as heretofore.
2. Weed Seeds. The presence of noxious weed seeds will be reported on request.
3. Smuts. All wheat samples will be tested for bunt (stinking smut) and tests will be made on oats or barley if requested. Reports will include recommendations as to seed treatment.
4. Other Diseases. As samples are removed from the germinator they will be examined for the presence of other diseases.
5. Mechanical Damage to the seed will be determined since it has an important bearing on the method of seed treatment.

Farmers should instruct elevator agents as to which tests are required. Wheat samples will be grown and examined for varietal purity next summer if the farmer so desires.

This is the only private laboratory in Canada equipped to perform such a service. The equipment is first-class and the staff well trained. No effort has been spared to insure that methods of testing shall be similar in all essentials to those developed in Dominion Government laboratories.

Samples must be at least 4 ounces and not more than 6 ounces. Line Elevator agents will provide envelopes and send the samples in to Line Elevators Farm Service, Winnipeg.

The Letter Box

The Star does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents. All letters must be signed by the writer of same and should not be longer than 300 words.

Editor: Dear Sir:

Reading the many letters regarding Old Age Pensions, also attending the meetings of the Social Security Council who are asking allowances of $60.00 per month for people at the age of 55 years, one wonders why such drastic demands are made for people who are in good health, have money or a job, and not in need of anything.

Why do we not demand adequate pensions for the Blind, disabled and the aged first?

We have in Canada a class of citizens that appear to have been forgotten by the public who are more handicapped in life than any other people and many are suffering for the want of the indispensable and necessary things of life. Many aged and unable to get around. They suffer in Canada through an unjust and unfair law.

They are the Blind citizens we have in Canada. The law is so drastic, every blind person must be poor and forty years of age before they may receive the miserable and meagre pension of $30.00 a month.

No two married blind people may receive a pension each, only one pension for the family of two people.

Any blind person that receives a pension and did a little work that enabled him to earn over $200.00 a year, his pension would be cut down all earnings above that sum.

The $30.00 pension will buy, if one pays $12.00 a month for a room, just two thirty cent meals a day. Not one cent left to buy soap, tooth powder, razor blades, shirts shoes or clothes. A blind person may get help if they apply to the Lions Club, the I.O.D.E. or some charitable institution of course.

May we ask how many of our readers would care to give all their money to some needy person, tape up their eyes so they cannot see daylight, go out into the world and try to make a living, carrying a white cane to feel your way along the curb?

Many people think the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is a home. That is not true. The C.N.I.B. has a home in Brandon, Man., where young blind people may be sent to learn a trade, profession and handicrafts. In Edmonton and Calgary the C.N.I.B. has an office where application may be made for eye treatment, also a workshop where blind people can receive tuition in braille reading, basket weaving etc.

Each person must have less than ten cent eye sight.

Though these people live in darkness, is it not up to you and I to make an effort to brighten up their lives, and have them feel the world is still beautiful, that nature is willing to give her best for them, even though they cannot see their loved ones, we can let them know they are loved by their fellow citizens.

How many people have we in Alberta that would help build a home for the blind? A home that would be surrounded with trees and a garden where each blind person may have a room free of any cost to themselves with a trained orderly in charge.

These circular letters are being mailed to our government, M.L.A.'s City and Town Councils, municipalities, Churches, the 73 weeklies and 6 daily news-papers in Alberta, organizations, clubs, etc., in an effort to find how many people are interested in our blind citizens in Alberta.

Some of the blind are now trying to live in rooms where no human being should be allowed to live.

Please write and tell us what you think about this projected home for blind people. Talk it over with your friends, and tell us what they say. Thank you.

The severe frosts we have had recently seem to have cleared the air and it looks more promising for the harvest and threshing.

The baby clinic which was held in Pawsey's Hall was fairly well attended. This is, we understand, to be a regular service and future dates will be advertised.

Work at the Edgerton Oil Wells has again been resumed.

George Sawyer has been busy installing a new light plant for Mr. Baker at Chauvin.

Peter Milne of Edmonton has been here during last week.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick is visiting with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.

A new piece of cement sidewalk has been constructed from the old drug store corner to past the pool-room. This has been needed for a long time but shortage of labor has caused the delay.

Mr. R. Kington was a tripper to the city on Wednesday.

The local Red Cross will hold a meeting next Saturday, October 6th at 8:30 p.m. in the basement of St. Mary's Church.

The National Drive for the collection of used clothing for the peoples of the war devastated areas started Monday. The receiving place here is at Bob McKay's lumber yard. Everyone is asked to hunt up any usable clothing they possibly can to help out in this needy cause.

St. Mary's W.A. will meet at the home of Mrs. Sawyer Sr., next Thursday October 4th.

Another shipment of cigarettes was made to the local boys overseas from the Cigarette Fund.

Jim Steele's new building is getting its first coat of stucco. The McKay house is also nearing completion

A very interesting talk was given in Pawsey's Hall by the Rev. E. V. Steele who, with his wife was interned in Japan and had been a prisoner since the invasion. After listening to his experiences and the misery they had to put up with we should be truly thankful we live in a country like Canada. Mr. Steele is a brother of Jim Steele.

Our Returning Fighting Men

After long years of terrific strain and struggle at last we can give grateful thanks for a complete victory. But the problems of peace still have to be faced, and let us make no mistake they will be difficult. The whole world is suffering, and will suffer for considerable time to come, from the effects of this ghastly war. Millions of young men have met an untimely death. European countries including Britain; and Asiatic countries including our most recently defeated enemy Japan, are suffering intensely from the destruction of properties and industries in massive proportion. Most countries have gone heavily into debt, which debts with accrued interest will have to be paid.

We have all learned that not only was this a global war, but also that we live in a global world, that the welfare of the people of every nation is tied in with the welfare of other nations, that no country can be prosperous unless other countries too are prosperous, and that if some countries are depressed and suffering, then sooner or later the evil effects of this depression and suffering will reach to other parts of the world. We know this is so from the bitter experience we had after the last war.

We must Rehabilitate our Fighting Men.

With all the difficult problems that have to be dealt with, however, there is one that must have priority:—The task of rehabilitating our Returning Fighting Men. After past wars the debt we owed the War Veterans was paid usually only in the remembrances of their gallant deeds; but in this age we must do much more for them, something more tangible. To the Veterans of this War we owe all that we today enjoy, and all that our children and their children will enjoy—Our Liberties and Freedoms, and the veritable dignity of man itself; for without the great victory won by our gallant lads at the expense of incredible sufferings and hardships, and by their willingness to face death, we today unquestionably would be under the heel of our vicious and cruel enemies the Nazis and the Japanese. This goes without saying and needs no argument with sensible people.

How can we repay the debt we owe to our War Veterans?

"Our boys are now returning" we read daily in the newspapers. But this phrase we suggest is not quite correct. Our "boys" left years ago to fight our battles; it is not our "boys" who will be returning but our fighting men—and it is as mature and experienced men that they should now be regarded; as fighting Men those gallant deeds entitle them to be enshrined in the hearts of a grateful people.

These veterans have been through much, and have seen things which few civilians can comprehend. For a time, therefore, with the remembrance acute in their minds of what they have endured in battle, many of our veterans will be somewhat different from us at home. They will need quiet, patient understanding for a little while. Our Fighting Men are returning to us through a veil of blood and tears, they have known the filth of fox holes, the pain and blood of battle and beachheads, and they have walked with death as a daily companion. First of all then, we should take particular pains to express our heartfelt thanks to these magnificent warriors, to these returning men whom death had not quite managed to catch up with; for soldiers like the rest of us like to receive expressions of appreciation for any good work that may have been done. Such thanks will inspire the returning fighting men with new hope to face what is to them the unknown future of civilian life. Let us, then, be generous with our thanks and praise. The new civilian life they will face will be so completely different from all that they have experienced in their highly disciplined military life, that unless they receive sympathetic consideration there is a risk they may become disillusioned and disenchanted as so many did after the last war, and think that their brave efforts may not be bearing the fruits they expected.

Returning Veterans Require A Job

But above all these men require a job. They are naturally worried about their future. They have been out of the stream of trade, commerce and industry for several years, and in their minds is the constant thought and fear "Will I be able to support myself and my family" so that therefore the offer of a job, or the assurance of a job when the returning veteran is ready, is perhaps the most tangible token of appreciation that we can give to them.

Surely these men, to whom we owe not only so much, but indeed all that we have and cherish and value, are entitled to priority for any positions that are open, or that can be created for them; for these fighting crusaders are numbered among those of whom our Lord has said:—

"Well done thou good and faithful servant."

Many Restrictions Removed, Modified

Wartime controls are gradually going out the window as the supply picture improves. This substantiates Prices Board policy of lifting restrictions wherever possible. Changes announced during the past week affect such diverse articles as facial tissue, luggage and leather goods, farm machinery, raw silk and the insectide, DDT

Facial tissues will gradually resume pre-war proportions since control over their size, weight of paper used, and the number of sheets to a packet will be exercised no longer. Controls on the end-use and delivery of paper board boxes has also been relaxed.

Wardrobe trunks should be coming back to market in quantity after the New Year as a result of freeing luggage production. Controls on the production of small leather goods and on the acquisition and use of raw silk have also been lifted.

DDT will be available to any buyer in future because supplies are more plentiful. Nicotine and rotenone will also be available through ordinary channels.

From October 1, farm machinery and equipment has been removed from the ration, though current ration permits should be honored.

In all cases, price controls still hold

OFFAL NOT RATIONED

Liver, heart, kidney tongue sweetbreads and blood saumage have been temporarily removed from the list of rationed meats, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced.

Liver saumage is still rationed, the Board points out. So are processed meats which contain any of the above meats as an ingredient.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

NATIONAL IMMUNIZATION WEEK

National Immunisation Week comes again this year early in the fall—September 30 to October 6. During this week the Health League of Canada co-operates with the health authorities throughout the Dominion in calling special attention to the need for protecting children against the communicable diseases-notably whooping cough, diphtheria, smallpox and scarlet fever.

Vaccination has been so effective in Canada that today a case of smallpox is rare. But eternal vigilence is the price of security and failure to vaccinate would mean more smallpox. Diphtheria has disappeared in some parts of Canada and in others the rate is still disgracefully high. Whooping cough, largely preventable, causes the most deaths among contagious diseases of early childhood. There were 333 deaths from this cause last year.

Infection by the serious communicable diseases of childhood results largely from failure to immunize. Facilities to immunize every child in the Dominion are available if only parents would take advantage of them. Forty thousand cases annually of scarlet fever, diphtheria and whooping cough alone mean many unnecessary deaths and many children damaged for life by unnecessary disease.

National Immunization Week is an effort to call attention to the need for protecting children by utilising all publicity methods in a co-ordinated and intensive fashion which would be impossible to maintain throughout the year. This does not mean that efforts to get children immunized should cease at the close of National Immunization Week. This is an all-year job and an every day duty for health officers, physicians and nurses throughout the Dominion. This particular effort is a means of vigorous reminder, to parents especially, of an important obligation which, assumed generally, would save many lives now sacrificed because of apathy and indifference.

GUARD AGAINST POLIO MENACE

If the trend of previous years runs true to form, an upsweep in poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis can be expected during the latter half of the summer. It is a disease all mothers dread for as yet no vaccine or toxoid has been discovered that will immunize children from infection.

The Department of National Health and Welfare says that all parents can do when poliomyelitis occurs in their community is to reduce contacts with strangers. This means the avoidance of unnecessary travel and visiting.

The virus which causes the disease is present in the discharge from the nose and throat and from the bowels of the patient. Healthy people may also carry the virus and are just as liable to spread the disease as anyone who is ill. There is no evidence that biting insects transmit the disease but it is known that flies may become contaminated with material containing the virus and thus act as carriers of the infection; therefore the home, and especially the kitchen, should be well screened and kept as free from flies as possible.

It is recommended that nose and throat operations on children be postponed during the prevalence of the disease. All children with fever or other definite signs of illness should be kept in bed until a diagnosis can be made by a doctor.

CARROTS PREVENT STUMBLES IN DARK

Stumbling down the aisle of a darkened theatre to find one's seat is an unhappy yet common exeprience It takes a few minutes for the human eye to become adjusted to seeing in the dark. A lack of vitamin A in the body lengthens this time and eating foods rich in this element will speed up the eye's ability to become adjusted to the darkness. The humble carrot is such a food.

The carrot has long been popular with both young and old, perhaps because of its tenderness and sweet flavour. It is easily digested and therefore is ideal for the whole family from baby to great-grandpa.

The Nutrition Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare states that while more important as a source of vitamin A, carrots also contain some vitamin C. Although good all year round they are at their best just now, especially for eating raw.

SAYS GREAT WASTE IN INDUSTRY FROM PREVENTABLE ILLS

Industry is peculiarly well-placed to contribute to better adult health because of its organization in groups to whom preventive measures can be more readily applied, says Dr. J. G. Cunningham, Industrial Hygiene Director, Ontario Department of Health, in a report now being distributed to industrial firms by the Health League of Canada's Industrial Division.

"The presence of the industrial physician and nurse in the factory focusses all efforts directed to the maintenance of health, whether originating inside the factory through the medical problems which present themselves in every plant, or through the employer's interest in his employfactory through the activities of offices, or whether from outside the ficial health agencies such as the federal or provincial departments of health or the Health League of Canada," Dr. Cunningham reports.

He outlines preventive tactics used in factory health programs and points out that experts connected with both federal and provincial departments are in a position to guide interested employers

Dr. Cunningham also points out that waste in industry from preventable illness is perhaps 10 times as great as waste from major hazards in manufacturing which produce sickness and accidents.

Discussing the cost of health services to industrial employers, he says it may not be expected to exceed .5 per cent of the cost of the manufactured product—or $5 to $10 a year on a per capita basis.

Those who continue to shrink from taking responsibility—continue to shrink.

If you don't deal with your own sins first thing in the morning, your neighbours will have to deal with them in your kids all the rest of the day.

Some people confuse "I want—I won't—I'm right—and I'll get" with the four freedoms.

Don't just get things off your chest. Go deeper and give them from your heart.

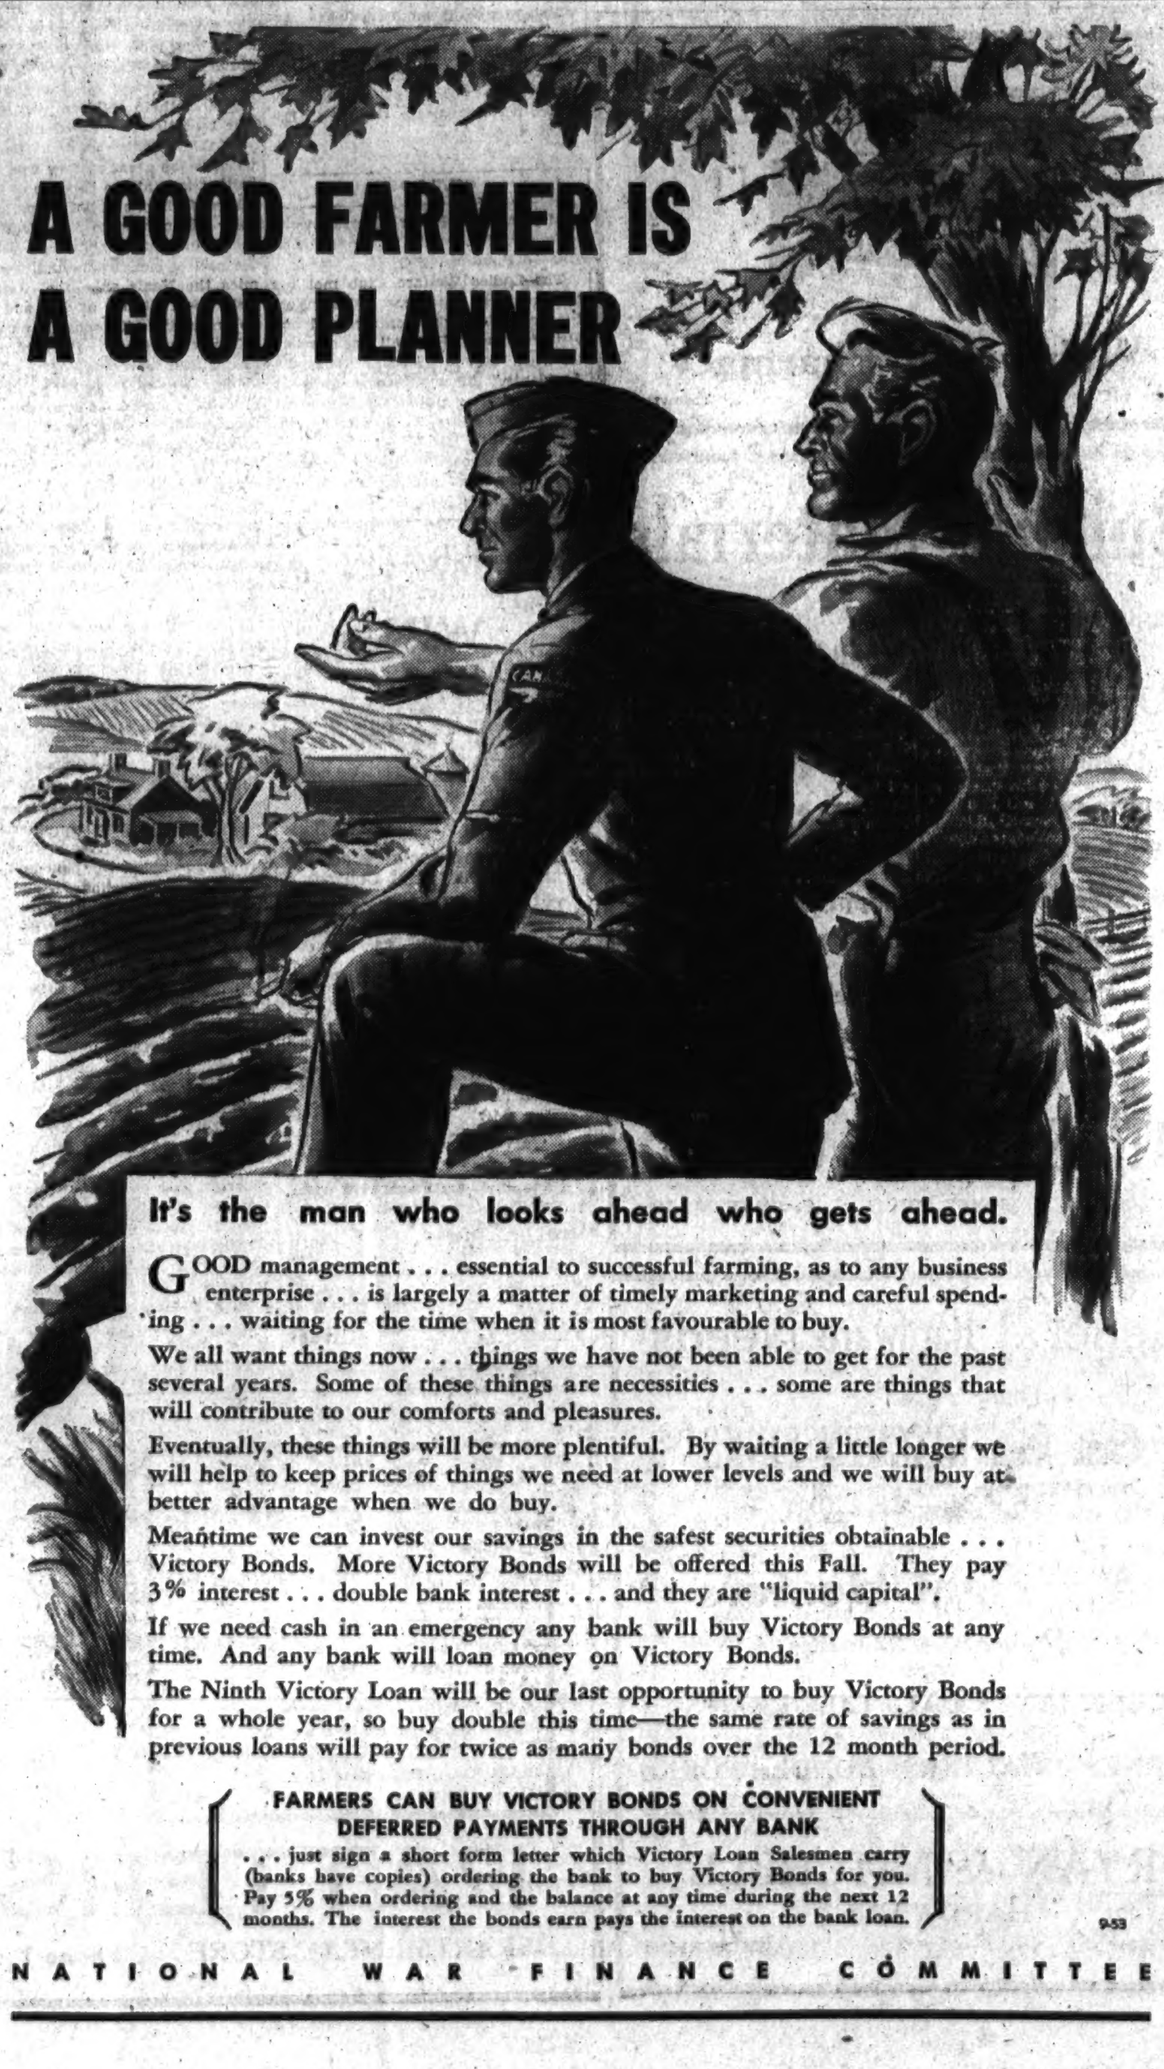
A GOOD FARMER IS A GOOD PLANNER



It's the man who looks ahead who gets ahead.

GOOD management . . . essential to successful farming, as to any business enterprise . . . is largely a matter of timely marketing and careful spending . . . waiting for the time when it is most favourable to buy.

We all want things now . . . things we have not been able to get for the past several years. Some of these things are necessities . . . some are things that will contribute to our comforts and pleasures.

Eventually, these things will be more plentiful. By waiting a little longer we will help to keep prices of things we need at lower levels and we will buy at better advantage when we do buy.

Meantime we can invest our savings in the safest securities obtainable . . . Victory Bonds. More Victory Bonds will be offered this Fall. They pay 3% interest . . . double bank interest . . . and they are "liquid capital".

If we need cash in an emergency any bank will buy Victory Bonds at any time. And any bank will loan money on Victory Bonds.

The Ninth Victory Loan will be our last opportunity to buy Victory Bonds for a whole year, so buy double this time—the same rate of savings as in previous loans will pay for twice as many bonds over the 12 month period.

FARMERS CAN BUY VICTORY BONDS ON CONVENIENT DEFERRED PAYMENTS THROUGH ANY BANK

. . . just sign a short form letter which Victory Loan Salesmen carry (banks have copies) ordering the bank to buy Victory Bonds for you. Pay 5% when ordering and the balance at any time during the next 12 months. The interest the bonds earn pays the interest on the bank loan.

Hints for the Household

Fish-Stuffed Squash

3 pepper or acorn squash
Salt
1½ cups cooked, flaked, fresh or smoked fish
2 cups medium cream sauce
¼ cup grated cheese or buttered crumbs

Wash squash and bake until almost tender, Cut in halves, remove seeds and salt lightly. Combine fish and cream sauce and fill centres of squash Top with cheese or bread crumbs. Return to oven until squash is tender and topping browned. Six servings.

One Pound Serves Six

When one pound of meat makes six generous servings—well, that is what is meant by meat stretching. This recipe rated highly by the critical test and taste standards of the staff of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Upside-down Meat Pie

1 lb. hamburger
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups well-seasoned tomato sauce
Biscuit dough

Brown meat lightly in fat, cooking till crumbly but not hard. Add salt, pepper and tomato sauce. Bring to boiling point and place in a baking dish. Prepare biscuit dough using 2 cups flour and adding one teaspoon each of paprika and celery salt. Cover meat with dough and bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees F, for 20 minutes. Turn out on hot platter, meat side up, garnish with parsley. Six servings.

Favorite with the Kids

The children will look forward to meatless days when Mother serves peanut butter chops for dinner. Even Dad will agree that they are really good!

The recipe was developed in the experimental kitchen of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Peanut Butter Chops

2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup milk
Dash of salt
6 slices bread, ½ inch thick
1 cup peanut butter
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs

Beat eggs slightly, add milk and salt. Cut crusts from bread and cut slices in half, crosswise. Spread both sides of bread with peanut butter, dip in egg mixture, then into bread crumbs. Brown on both sides in a little hot fat. Serve with catsup or chili sauce. Six servings.

Speaking of chicken and noodles, have you ever served a chicken-noodle platter in your home. Here's a combination that makes the meal a "headline event". The next time you get a small chicken and want a main course dish that will be a bit out of the ordinary, try stretching it with egg noodles as explained in the following recipe. It's a very simple recipe, for aside from the two ingredients already mentioned, you need only a little butter and some seasoning. But what a dish you will place upon your table for the family or your guests! You'll always want to keep a package of egg noodles on hand for "repeats".

Noodle-Chicken Platter

½ pound egg noodles
½ cup butter
1 young chicken
Salt and pepper

Cut chicken into four quarters and fry until brown and tender. Drop egg noodles into boiling salted water. Cook until tender; drain. Toss cooked egg noodles in melted butter. Arrange fried chicken and buttered egg noodles tastily on a suitable platter. Sprinkle with parsley, season to taste and serve hot.

METHODS OF SAVING LAST OF GARDEN CROP FROM FROST

Busy days these—days for making the last relishes to brighten winter meals, days for storing away the remaining garden produce before the frost arrives.

To save the last green tomatoes from frost, the home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest pulling the plants by the roots, discarding any imperfect tomatoes and hanging them root-end up in the cellar or back shed. If a temperature around 50 degrees F can be maintained, the tomatoes will ripen gradually and provide a supply for several weeks.

For a change from raw sliced cucumbers try them cut in thick fingers dipped in seasoned flour and then sauteed in a little hot fat until crisp and brown. Cut half-inch slices of green tomato and saute them this way also.

Along with two excellent relish recipes, the Consumer Section gives a recipe for Cucumbers au Gratin that is really worth trying.

Raw Carrot Relish

3 cups chopped carrots, (8 large)
2 cups chopped sweet red peppers, (4 medium)
2 cups chopped green peppers, (3 large)
4 cups chopped cabbage, (1 small head)
2 cups chopped onion
1 cup sugar
1 quart vinegar
2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons celery seed.

Mix all vegetables. Combine remaining ingredients and heat to boiling point. Pack vegetables into hot sterilized jars and cover with hot vinegar mixture. Seal. Yield: about 5 pints.

Ripe Cucumber Relish

3 large ripe cucumbers, about 3 qts. cubed
2 large onions, 1½ cups chopped
3 tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon turmeric
¼ cup dry mustard
2 cups vinegar
¼ cup flour
½ cup sugar

Peel and remove seeds from ripe cucumbers. Cut into pieces (about ¾ inch cubes.) Peel and chop onions and add to cucumbers; sprinkle with salt, let stand one hour; drain thoroughly. Mix turmeric and mustard with 1 cup vinegar, add drained vegetables and cook slowly 15 minutes. Combine, flour and sugar with remaining cup of vinegar. Drain vegetables, combining drained liquid with flour and sugar paste. Heat this sauce slowly to boiling point and cook, stirring constantly 10 minutes. Add vegetables and reheat to boiling point. Pack in hot sterilized jars. Seal. Yield: about 3 pints.

Cucumbers au Gratin

1½ cups soft stale bread crumbs
6 cups peeled, diced ripe cucumber
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup grated cheese
2 cups thick cream sauce

Reserve ½ cup of crumbs. Place alternate layers of cucumbers sprinkled with salt and pepper, and remaining bread crumbs in a greased baking dish. Add cheese to cream sauce and pour over the last layer, sprinkle with remaining bread crumbs. Cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F, for 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking until crumbs are browned, about 10 minutes. Six servings.

PERFECT JELLIES WHEN YOU FOLLOW MODERN RECIPES

Grape season is one of the loveliest times of year, but then on the other hand, what's better than a cupboard stocked with delicious grape jellies and jams? That's where these efficient, short-boil recipes come into the spotlight! Barely fifteen minutes after the fruit is prepared you're ready to paraffin your perfect product, wash the jelly kettle, and use the rest of the day for your other activities. You will be delighted with the way light corn syrup may be used in combination with sugar and you will get more glasses of spreads, too.

Grape Jelly

5 cups juice
3¼ cups sugar
3¼ cups light corn syrup
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare juice, stem about 3½ pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add 1½ cups water, bring to a boil, and simmer, covered 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and syrup into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure juice into a 5 to 6-quart saucepan.

Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. Continue stirring bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from fire,

To donors and others who have contributed in any way to the

in Alberta Division Clinics:

Dear Friends:

This letter is ... YOU!"

The volunteer Blood Donor Service of the Canadian Red Cross Society was established on January 29, 1940. Since that time, we have received over 2,300,000 blood donations in Canada. As we are now closing the service from a war standpoint, we would like to express to you our sincere appreciation for the blood donations you have so generously given.

There is always a joy in doing something for another but there is a special joy when it means the saving of a life. This Service has been the means of saving the lives of hundreds of our men in the Army, the Navy and the Air Force; so you, by your co-operation, have had a part in it. We know this thought will fully repay you.

Now regarding the future. It is most unfortunate that many deaths occur in the hospitals in Canada annually because of the lack of a proper transfusion service. The Red Cross is an organization of mercy and we are now surveying the field in Canada with a view of setting up a service to provide blood for transfusion purposes in all hospitals.

It is anticipated that it will take at least three months to complete the survey; so we again say "Thank you" for your assistance during the war period and we most earnestly request that you join with us when the new service is established in continuing to play a part in the saving of human life—something so dear to us all.

Yours sincerely,
DR. R. C. RILEY,
Chairman, Blood Donor Committee.

Canadian National Railway

Montreal—In a message addressed to the Canadian public, Mr. R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, has expressed the system's thanks for the co-operation given it during the war by the millions of train and steamship passengers, shippers of freight and express, hotel guests, and patrons of the telegraph and other services. The Canadian National ability to fulfill its gigantic war duty "to the credit and satisfaction of the nation," he said, "is due not only to the skill, devotion and zeal of those who are our workers, but in large measure also to the Canadian public who, by their generous responses to appeals for help and their uncomplaining acceptances of restrictions and controls lightened our burden." He made particular mention of "the unnumbered citizens who refrained from travelling needlessly as their contribution to the common cause."

From the outbreak of the war in September 1939, to V-J day, Canadian National passenger train miles amounted to more than 139 million, according to the Bureau of Statistics. Passenger car miles totalled more than one billion, 617 million. It is estimated that more than four million passengers were carried; up to the end of last year, more than four million troops had been transported in 6,540 special trains. The movement of troops returning home from overseas is still continuing and figures are not yet available concerning its size, but two thirds of all troop trains required for those movements are being provided by the Canadian National. Special workmen's trains, operated to and from war plants carried over 41 million passengers. Nearly 26 million meals were served to military and civilian passengers on Canadian National diners during the war period.

The Canadian National hauled more than 491 million tons of freight during the war. Freight train miles aggregated more than 246 million; freight car miles, nearly 11 billion; net ton miles, more than 196 billion.

Vessels owned and operated by the Canadian National Steamships travelled four and a half million miles in war service and a number were victims of enemy action. Three were converted into fighting naval units and one, "The Lady Nelson", was Canada's first hospital ship.

Hotels, express and telegraphs departments all contributed largely to the nation's war effort. Trans-Canada Air Lines aircraft flew some 45 million miles, carrying more than 600,000 passengers, approximately 14 million pounds of mail and two and a half million pounds of express. The railway's drydock and shipyard at Prince Rupert built minesweepers and freighters. National Railways Munitions Limited at Montreal constructed naval guns and carriages and other war equipment. Officers and staffs in the Canadian National architect's department, the real estate, law and development departments and others gave technical assistant to the government. In co-operation with the R.C.A.M.C., the architect's department designed special hospital cars which were constructed by the car equipment department and shops of the company. Officers of the system organized wartime censorship and public information in 1939 and 1940. Nearly 25,000 men and women enlisted in the armed forces, in the Merchant Navy or were on special war duty with the government. Many of them won decorations for gallantry and distinguished service.

"The surrender of the last enemy had ended the fighting, but it has not ended the war job of the Canadian National Railways," concluded Mr. Vaughan's message to the people of Canada. "The men and women in the services have to be brought home without delay and for that purpose we shall continue to employ all our available passenger equipment. Millions of tons of materials must be transported for industrial reconversion. In carrying out these and other extensions of our war job, we hope we may continue to enjoy the understanding of the Canadian public."

National Immunization Week In Canada

This week has been designated National Immunization Week, sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with health departments. The observance is designed to draw attention to the fact that the incidence of diphtheria, whooping cough and scarlet fever is far too high in Canada—there were 756 fatalities from the three diseases in 1944. These deaths occurred from diseases which are preventable—preventable if proper immunization methods are used. Parents of unprotected children should consult their physician or their health department at once.

Every Canadian child can be and should be given protection against diphtheria, whooping cough, scarlet fever and smallpox. Parents of unprotected children should see their doctor or their health department immediately. This is Canada's third annual National Immunization Week, sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with health departments.

MIRACLE OF RADAR

Winnipeg—Trans-Canada Air Lines' rate of flight fulfillment will be close to 100 percent compared with the present rate of 94.8 which will equal or exceed other forms of transportation as a result of experiments which are now being conducted by the company at its operational headquarters through the use of Radar and other electronic devices, W. F. English, vice-president of the air line announces.

The experiments are being conducted in conjunction with the R.C.A.F. and National Research Council, Ottawa.

Mr. English said, "While Trans-Canada Air Lines at the present time are using devices providing the utmost safety in flying, the application of radar and associated developments which will result from radar, will lift practically all limitation of visibility and adverse flyng conditions and enable us to increase greatly our schedule of dependability.
